Risk Assessment

IBM SkillsBuild

Step 1

Identify the company's external and internal risks. As you work to identify risks, think of the following questions:

- What external risks might the company face given the location of the servers and company headquarters?
- What internal risks might the company face with employees working remotely and at headquarters?

Explain why the company should consider each risk that you identify.

Step 2

Describe one consequence or impact for each risk you identified in Step 1. Explain how each risk can lead to the impact described.

Step 3
Determine the tolerability of the risks that you identified in Step 1. Perform the following tasks for each risk:

- Rate your company's tolerance for each risk using the system discussed before: low, moderate, high, or very high.
- Describe the risk's frequency and the extent of the harm that it can cause.
- Explain why you rated the risk low, moderate, high, or very high.
